CALENDAR LISTING — Aviation Career Day gives high-school students glimpse into growing aviation industry

Hosts: Ventura County Ninety-Nines, Experimental Aircraft Association Chapter 723, Commemorative Air Force SoCal Wing, Ventura County Career Education Center, SBBCollege, California Aeronautical University, Channel Islands Aviation, CP Aviation, Ventura County Department of Airports and Scofield Catering.

What: Ventura County High School Aviation Career Day

When: 9:00 a.m. – 1:00 p.m. on Friday, October 30, 2015

Where: Commemorative Air Force Museum
Camarillo Airport, 455 Aviation Drive, Camarillo, CA

Why: An event for all high school students in Ventura County to learn about various aviation careers available in this growing industry. Students will have the opportunity to speak to aviation industry professionals, military professionals, pilots, and aviation schools. In attendance will be representatives from SkyWest Airlines, Sun Air Jets, Air Traffic Controllers, UAV industry professionals, Civil Air Patrol, US Air Force, Channel Islands Air National Guard, US Navy, flight schools such as CP Aviation and Channel Islands Aviation, as well as local Colleges including CSU Channel Islands, Mount San Antonio College, Spartan College, and the new California Aeronautical University. We will also have a roadable aircraft on display from Caravella Aerospace.

Highlight: There will be an airplane flying/building contest called “Make Garbage Fly” with the airplanes being built using recycled materials. For contest rules, please visit www.facebook.com/vcaviationcareerday.

RSVP: Students should sign up with their Career & College Counselors and/or STEM Teachers.
